DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 3, 7-10, 12-15, 21 and 22 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The applicant's independent claims, claims 21 and 22, have several similarities as well as differences with the cited prior art. Ashline et al. (US 5,649,341) and applicant's invention both disclose a housing with a first mounting structure and a first cam pivotally mounted on said first mounting structure. Also disclosed is a knurl bar and a first spring engaged with the first cam and knurl bar wherein said first spring applies compressive force against said first cam and said knurl bar. Further disclosed is a tongue blade. However, Ashline et al. fails to disclose a second cam, second mounting structure wherein said second cam rotates about, and a second spring. Moreover, Ashline et al. fails to disclose that said first cam grips said tongue blade in response to its engagement by said first spring. There is no reason to modify Ashline et al. in order to include a second cam, second spring and second mounting structure. Doing so would destroy the structure and intent of Ashline et al.

Other patents cited also include much of the structure claimed by the Applicant, but fail to disclose all of the claimed structure or fail to provide motivation to modify. For example, the springs in the Casebolt et al. patent (US 6,668,434) do not engage the knurl bar. Same issue with L.H. Smith (US 3,279,020), Jantzen (US 3,201,840) and Gandelman (US 4,321,734)

None of the other prior art references whether taken alone or used in combination cure the deficiency of Ashline et al. Thus, the prior art as a whole made of record does not disclose or suggest the structural arrangement or the combination of structure set forth in Applicant's claims. As a result, the Examiner believes Applicant's claims as presented are patentably distinct from the prior art of record and the general prior art pertaining to quick release latch plates and buckles.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
